

Children's Day for Parental Rights in Washington, D.C.

Children Are Worth Protecting

The United Nations has declared November 20 "Universal Children's Day."
What better way to celebrate children than by standing up to protect children by empowering parents through the proposed Parental Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution!

Date: Friday, November 20, 2009

Time: 11:00 am – 2:00 pm

Location: U.S. Capitol grounds -- House side on the East Lawn, Across from the Rayburn HOB Independence Avenue S.E., Washington, D.C.

Invited Speakers Include:

U.S. Representative Peter Hoekstra (MI)

U.S. Senator Jim DeMint (SC)

Selected Co-sponsors of the Parental Rights Amendment

Michael P. Farris, President of ParentalRights.org

William Estrada, Esq., Home School Legal Defense Association

Gerard Robinson, President, Black Alliance for Educational Options

Steven Groves, The Heritage Foundation

(Speaker list is subject to change—some invited speakers not listed.)

For more information, contact
Rebekah Pizana at 540.645.9475 or
Rebekah@parentalrights.org

Sponsored by

Protecting Children by Empowering Parents

parentalrights.org